

We Put In Our Energy To Save Yours

Earlier this year, Tech Collective attended the Constellation Association Summit in Baltimore. It was an opportunity to meet with and learn from 21 other associations across the country. Also, it was a chance to learn more about Constellation and the energy benefits we pass along to you – our members – through them.

Going into the summit, we knew Constellation was the leading competitive supplier of energy products and services in the U.S., and we knew the Constellation team was friendly, knowledgeable, and easy to work with – the most important reasons Tech Collective endorses Constellation to our members. Here's what we didn't know:

YOU DO NOT Have To:

- Own your building
- Be a large company
- Be a manufacturer or other traditionally high consumer of energy

How Constellation CATERS TO THE SMB MARKET:

Budget Stability – aka: peace of mind. You'll know exactly what your energy bill is going to be every month. No more guessing or watching market fluctuations; no more worrying or surprise increases

Customization – you can lock-in rates for as little or as much of your energy usage as you want; and for anywhere between 6 months and 5 years

 Efficiency Made Easy – Constellation can manage your energy efficiency upgrades, including product, installation, and project management

Energy Audits – every little bit counts, and Constellation will send an expert in energy and technology to your location to identify areas where you might reduce usage and cost

Lock-In Your ENERGY RATES and CUSTOMER SERVICE:

- Competitive market rates – currently at all-time lows
- Responsive customer service
- Online energy management tools
- Transparent billing

Learn more: www.tech-collective.org and click on Affinity and Services Programs

Bright Idea: Efficiency Made Easy

Conservation is a great way to save on energy costs, but sometimes the easiest efficiency upgrades just aren't in the budget. Could you benefit from energy upgrades to your:

Lighting • Building • HVAC Systems

If so, Constellation can coordinate and install these improvements for you with no upfront capital. The cost would be rolled in over the length of your contract.

The best part: energy and cost savings that you may garner through the upgrades could cover the cost of the upgrades themselves. And when the contract is up, they are still yours to keep benefitting from!

Constellation
An Exelon Company

Why Constellation:

Constellation does more than crunch the day's market number for you. They have entire teams to analyze the current and predicted market and corresponding price rates. (They have four meteorologists on staff just to anticipate how the weather will impact the energy market!) This enables them to provide you with cognizant and reliable energy market information and contracting available.

This due-diligence, in addition to Constellation's market credibility, flexibility to work for your business needs, excellent customer service, and extended benefits (load response, renewable energy certificates, energy efficiency), is why Tech Collective endorses Constellation as a must-have member benefit.